CORRECT SPEAKING.

We advise all young people to acquire in both in speaking and writing, and to abandon, an early at possible, any use of slang words od phrases. The longer they live the more mit the acquisition of correct language will be; and if the golden age of youth, the proper of in its abuse, the unfortunate victim of and allegiance to the Government, beneath to mik alang for life. Money is not necess ary then does true patriotism breathe from every can institutions become the model of the world, firm stand for Christianity. to procure this education. Every man has it word of his toast. in his power. He has merely to use the langnage which he reads, instead of the slang speakers and poets of the country; to treasure up choice phrases in his memory, and habituate himself to their use, avoiding, at the same time, that pedantic precision and bombast, which shows rather the weak ness of vain ambition than the polish of an educated mind.

WASTY OPINIONS.

Ler us not pass an opinion too hastily, on the actions of others. It is better to judge a man too leniently than too harshly. If we must err it is better to err on mercy's side. Better that ten deadly injuries should go unrevenged than one innocent person should be made to

We can never accurately judge of a man's heart by his outward conduct-because we tahhot place ourselves precisely in his situation, to look upon life and its affairs with his own particular estimate. We can never be surrounded with the same influences that surround him, or be acted upon by the identical impulses which act upon him. We can not see life from his individual stand point, and therefore we do not kno w but that if we were placed in his reumstances we should do even as he has

Let us, therefore, be charitable one to another, for we know not how soon we ourselves; may require charity and forgiveness at the hand of our neighbor.

GUARD AGAINST VULGAR LANGUAGE.

There is as much connection between the words ind the thoughts as there is between the thoughts and the actions. The latter are not the expression of the former, but they the stain of their corruption there. A young ance of that word he extends that spot and ining out le language. The animals cultivate friendship by the sense of touch, as well as by the sense of smell, hearing, and sight; and for this purpose, they employ the most sensi. tive parts of their bodies. "Our Republic; may sie have a second Wasiagton in her second Revolution."

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: The eloquence of the toast of my classmate needs no aid from ny libs to interpret its significance. If fidel ity to the Union blazes from those stars,

What can be more appropriate in celebraing this, the natal day of our beloved Washngton, than to remember first our Republic? Contemplate it for a moment. A few months ago the abode of peace; to-day a vast battleground, to-night a firmament of camp firesverberates the canhon's rear, whose mountains and that history shall soon recordare now converted into vast bulwarks of de- "The oppressed of the earth to that standard shall fly, fense, whose rivers float numerous flotillas of destruction, and whose plains, once the playground of grazing flocks, now the bloody arenas of contending thousands.

And why all this? Why do we to-day mourn gallant men, who, going forth proud and brave beneath their country's flag, have been brought home cold and lifeless with its folds wrapped around them for a shroud? Why is it that the patriot Garfield, who addressed us a year ago, is to-day fighting on the soil of another State? The answer is evident. It is because a lurking, slimy serpent-successionhas lifted his head from southern soil, and with two years have passed since we were a happy his powerful coils is trying to sever from us a people-the happiest, perhaps that ever lived portion of our Republic.
